STEP 3:

Case / Function Matrix :

Function	Consult Project	Outsaure project	Interim Project	Client	Market Research	Car Lease	Secret Request
Acquisition	✓ P_1	✓ P_1	✓ P_1
Relationship				✓ P_2
Team creation	✓ P_3	✓ P_4
Kick off meeting	✓ P_3	✓ P_4	✓ P_5
Project execution	✓ P_3	✓ P_4	✓ P_5
Project evaluation	✓ P_3	✓ P_4	✓ P_5
Market research					✓ P_6
Car leasing					✓ P_6	✓ P_7
Sectary service							✓ P_8

Team creation only for consultancy and outsourcing kick-off is same for all types.

STEP 4:

Identifying the process:

Start: The whole matrix is one big process. Split only if a guidline applies.

Split 1.

Client relationship management is seperate Guidline 1 (How object is client, not the project) and Guidline 4 (meetings happens periodically, not per project).

Split 2:

Project acquistion is separate from project delivery. Guidline 3 (transactional state). intake and contract is the negotiation state, then team creation to evaluation is execution and acceptance.

Split 3:

Market research, car leasing and secretary services are separate. Guidline 1 (each has a different flow object).

Split 4:

Delivery is split per service type. Guidline 6 (other dimension): the text says execution differs largely per service type, so consultancy, outsourcing and interim are 3 processes.

Not Split:

- Acquisition per service type: no, if follows one fixed procedure for all types, the framework contract is only one extra step for new clients.
- Team creation, kick-off, execution, evaluation stay together in each delivery process: same flow object (project), same project plan.
- Guidline 8 not applicable (interim has only one function less). Guidline 2,5,7 not applicable (no batch, no location no reference model).
